"Thou shalt be called the repairer of the breach."—Isniah Iviii. 12.

The Army itself can boast of thousaids of happy homes. If our may be quarboned for saying it, at the head of The Army there has always been the sphead i object-lesson of a happy, holy home life. Again and again the outside world has been favored with glimpses of the earlier home life of our revered General and our now sainted "Mother. Who is not interested in the family-life of Mrs. Branwell Booth and the Chief of the Staft, the portraits of their children, the stories of their domestic lapiness? Twenty-seven years ago Mrs. Branwell Booth underlined in pencil, in her Bible, the words at the head of this paragraph. They were given to her by her future lumband as a message from the Lord to him for her. Their subscandard which we have commentary. One of the most striking arguments for temperance relorms is to be found in certain cold, dispassionate statistics issued by the United States Census Bureau. These figures show that intemperance, as either a direct, or a contributing cause, was responsible fur more than nineteen per cell—practically one-fifth—of all divorces granted in the United States during the twenty years between 1887-1006, inclusive. Since at the present rate at least every twelfth marriage ands in divorce, we get a proportion of one home in every sixty-one wreeked by drink. Moreover, the census unthorities themselves admit that these figures represent only the most flagrant and palpuble instances on the part which intemperance plays in ****

The Dancers were Stepped.

Operations have now been commenced in the Mount Frere Circle. On in recent Sunday morning we went out three nules to a village kraal, composed mostly of heathen, and on the green some forty of the inhabitants gethered round and listened carnestly to the words of salvation. After we left, they words of salvation. After we left, they still set aliesnessing and explaining to each other what they had heard.

In the evening we held a large meeting, with nearly a lumifred and fifty people listening, at the Monat Frere Location. The singing and words spolen took hold of their hearts, and a dance that was in full swing molted away as the people were attracted and came to listen to us. We expect to see a good work done here, and many souls soon converted.—South African Cry.

A Review of Mr. Harold Begbie's New Book, "Broken Earthenware."

HAT "truth is stranger than fieldon" is a trite saying, nevertheless, it is certainly more powerful. The following, from the columns of the London Dally "Chronicle," which refers to the great book writen by that well-known publicist, Mr. Harold Begbie, entitled, "Broken Earthenware," may be a revelation to many. The book itself should be of untold blessing to those who read it, and we bespeak for it a great sale HAT "truth is stranger than fletion" is a trite saying, nev-throughout Canada and the world.

"Broken Earthenware," Mr. Harold Begble has written a wonderful and a convincing book, a book quivering with humanity and inspired tiv a serious purpose.

A Study in Human Nature.

As we put it aside, after reading it from cover to cover, there hes into our mind a vision of a great ugly building in the north of London. It is packed in every corner with people on the tenter hooks of emotion. Songs of righteousness filled the air, a gentle-volced woman has pleaded with the vast congregation to love God and do the right. An old man, erect in spite of his more than eighty years with flowing beard and flashing eyes has humoured these people and prayed carnestly for them, and especially for those who have not yet found the Way of the Cross, have not undergone that strange, inexplicable. and yet noti ncomprehensible spiritual process known as "conversion."

it is of this that Mr. Begblo writes with insight, sympathy and a passionate belief in dealing with "broken earthenware"—by which he means the men, women and children broken on the wheel of our social system. "It is only religion that is not in despair about this mass social system. social system. "It is only rengion that is not in despite about into of profitess evil dragging at the heels of progress—the religion which still believes in miracle," that can be of any avail. The book's sub-title "A footnote in narrative to Professor William James's The author human nature, 'The Varieties of Religious' Experience.' " found his material in a part of London which he does not mention by name, but which can be easily guessed at. He presents nine vivid stories of broken men who were saved by conversion, in most of the cases through the influence of The Salvation Army, and his object is to prove that "the Social Work of The Salvation Aimy is as nothing to its Spiritual work and that Social York itself could not exist without the miracle of conversion."

An Ex-Prize Fighter.

Mr. Regble's first article describes "The Puncher." an ex-prize fighter, with a wild and reckless past who, when the National Sporting Club was organised "was chosen to open it in a great fight, still remembered with Stanton Abbott. "The Puncher" fell from his high estate us a prize-fighter and drifted into more and more sinful, reckless, and This man was consumed with a fleree hatred for his violent ways. wife, who had left him on account of his conduct. He effected a reconciliation with the deliberate intention of murdering her, and game' on the scaffold. How he was folled and saved from himself is told by Mr. Begble. It happened through a vision which came to him in a low public house,

In a low public house,

The nature of this vision (writes Mr. Begble) was not exaited. In a flash he saw that his wife was murdered, just as he had planned and desired; that he had dled game on the scaffold, just as he had determined; the thing was doned: vengeance wreaked, anotheosis obtained—be had died game; he wan dead and the world was done with this was the vision. With it he saw the world pointing at his son and enjing, "That's young — whose futher was hanged for mardering his mother." A wave of shame swept over him; he came out of his vision with this sense of horror and shame drenching his thought. For the first time in all his life he was stunned by realisation of his degradation and infamy. He knew timself.

"The Puncher" joined The Salvation Army, but later was tempted and fell; then he recovered himself, and now, in his own neighbourhood he is, "perhaps the grostest force for personal relikion among the sad, the sorrowful the broken the lost," who eram its shaby streets."

The Mysterious Voice.

"A Tight Handful" describes the son of a soldier who after a riotous course in the army, became a guard on the "Twopenny Tube," married and led his Uriselda of a wife a life of misery and torture. One day he drove his wife and child from home.

"When they were gone, he found that she had tell for him, on the mantleplece, the money for the rent, with the exception of a few shiftings. This last service of faithful love steaded him a little and made thut think. He went back to his duty on the railway; and now we reach a point in the story where mystery unaccountable to the man tilmself enters and hurries the conclusion. On his first journey that tldy from the Bank to Shepherd's Bush this young guard heard a voice. lie tells you quite calmly, and with n resolution of someticton nothing can shake, that, as distinctly as ever he heard sound in his life, he heard that morning a voice which said to him: 'It is your fault, not God's that you cannot be savel; you won't trust."

The psychology of this case is simpler than that of "The Puncher," the "voice" more easily explicable than the vision. The man's sub-con-sciousness was in revolt against his evil life and he heard the soul speak. The man was converted and Mr. Begbie writes:—

Old Born Drunk.

The overmastering passion for drink which had ruled him like a tyrant the frightful rage and resentment which had made him a demen, and the disgust and hatred of life which had darkened all his outlook upon existence—vanished, ceased to exist, passed out of his life as if they had never heen there.

This is the wonderside of conversion which no psychology can explain.

The story of "O. B. D." is a ghastly one. The letters stand for "Old Born Drunk," the nickname of a man who had a newspaper round in the district described by Mr. Begbia. The Salvation Army Adjutant, who called on "O. B. D." at the suggestion of "the Puncher," was appalled when he saw him.

applance when he saw him.

Yet this awful man, still under fifty, but the victim of inherited alcoholism living in a vike-smelling den, half underground, had a son of whom he was proud and a wife who loved him. The Adjutant made the son the lever of ber appeal, and coaxed "O. B. D." and his wretched wife into visiting a Salvation Army revival meeting. The result astonished the Salvationists; the old man made his way to the penitent bench and said to the Adjulant in a crying voice: "Oh, I want to be like Joe!" This Joe was one of the men who had testified, and his ease is described by Mr. Begbie under the title 'The Ciminal." "Old Born Drunk" proved himself a hero, for when it was suggested that he should find some other occupation in order to avoid the temptation of his customers to drink, he replied, saying: "I must show them I am converted."

"You Are the One,"

"Joe, the Criminal," was an apparently irreclaimable blackguard, a man of many sentences and a cracksman who "had risen so high in his profession of hurgiar as to work with men like Milsom and Fowler (the Muswell Hill murderers), who thought no little of his cunning and had the highest respect for his courage."

had the highest respect for his courage."

The turning-point in "the Criminal's" life did not come with a vision or a face, but with a visit to "the Puncher's" home, whither he had been invited from the prison cell. The brightness and happiness of the ex-pugilist's home made a great impression on Joe, but he was soon the explagness nome made a great impression on Joe, but he was soon back in prison, and there a new idea came to him. In his cell he prayed for a wife, "a good woman who would keep him straight." As Mr. Begbie puts it, "he was praying for his idea of a Saviour—the only Saviour who could help him a good woman—that not impossible She." The sequel is charmingly described by the author. Joe had announced his conversion at the penitent form, and friends obtained him employment in a laundry.

One day he was painting a cart, and looking up from his job he saw a girl looking at him. He felt that his prayer had been answered. He felt convinced that his was the wife for whom he had prayed. He managed to strike up an acquainance, albeit diffident of himself and terribly conscious of his bed record. One day when they were friends and had discussed many things, including their ideas of a happy home, low said to her. Do you think you could marry a man like me?

"I don't know," she answered, "Why?"

"Because, when I was in prison," he said "I asked God to give me a wife and I can't help tithking you are the one."

But before she could reply, all that he had been crowded on his mind and he compared himself with this good pure, sensible girl, and felt He told her all this, and said, that, while he could not help asking her to be his wife, he did not expect she would marry him. He frankly and finely said that he might drift back and be what he was.

The girl said "I know the risk; but, I tell you what: I'll marry you praviding you join The Army and become a regular Soldier."

Dipped in Gin.

In "Lower: of the Low," Mr. Pegble describes the life of a boy who. from his infancy was taken by his widowed mother into public-houses and 'encouraged to be good and quiet and grateful by having his fins occasionally stroked by a fager dipped in gin." The child grew up evitably, to be a drankard and a criminal, but the conversion of The child grew up, in-Puncher" brought illumination to his degraded soul.
"I had watched 'the Puncher's life," he said. "I had seen it running clean and straight, and I resolved all of a sudden that it God could do such a miracle as that, I would have a cut at it, too, the did and found not only salvation for his soul but a deep rependant mother, whose life had been baunted by the dation of the child to whom the had once given siys of gin.

Band Chat.

Lieut-Colonel Howell, who re-cently returned from the Old Land and who was present in London at the Welcome Home gathering to Colonel Mitchell, says that the latter is very warm in his remarks regard-ing this Dominion, which he visited a month or two age. Reparading the Pands of Canada, Colonel Mitchell expressed himself to the Internation-al Staff Bandsmen as being pleased with their offerts, and added that they were better class Bands than he had hoped to find.

Gait Band, under Bandmaster Lawrenson is doing good local service. The new music recently punchased is delighting everybody. The Band is able to hold an openair of its own now, but although numerically the Band has known somewhat, there is still room for a sole corner, a sole tenor, and an Eb bass player. Who can supply?

Brandon Bilver Band (says our correspondent) is making rapid strides, under the direction of Band-master Harry Sonnes, who is not only doing his best for the Band's musical improvement, but spiritually, is a credit to the organization. Through the playing of the Band crowds come to the Barracks, and many souls have sought Christ.

The Temple Band's visit to Paris was a highly successful affair, and although the boys encountered some trying (yet amusing) experiences on the fey walks early on Monday morning en-route to the rallway depot, all arrived safe home in good spirits, and ready for another trip.

The programmes the Band sander.

The programmes the Band rendered during the week-end were new and varied, comprising the latest marches and selections. Specially interesting were the saxophone trice and solos, and instrumental substates.

On Wednesday night, Dec. 15th, Deversourt Band visited Toronto I., Siving a musical programme that quite encouraged and inspired the Bandemen of the latter Corps. Brother Gibson presided. The Hall was comfortably filled. "Redemydon." "Welsh Melodies" and the "Trampeter" were on the programme. Adjulant Habkitk's song and selection on the "bottles went well; niso the Shouth Quartette.

King of Belgium Dead.

King Leopold ded suddenly at brunsels, on December 17th, and, sending, his nephew's accession to the throne, the strains of the country will be administered by a Regency, consisting of the Council of Ministera. While the country is officially in mouraing, there is only the slightest evidence of personal grief, for the king was the most executed of all European monarchs, and the grant of a wise and good father, who ruled with prudence and honour, Leopold renounced his early training, and the excellent example set him in youth, and almost from young manhood has been notorious as a libertine and a cruel husband and father. His unmerelful treatment of his own children; his cruel and unjust conduct towards his sleter. The world can well spare such a man. His successor is said to be a studious and exceedingly democratis man, and it is kepped that under his rule the state of affairs will considerably improve.

President Taff's Message.

President Tail's Message.

In Mr. Tail's first annual message to Congress, reference was made to many questions of grent Interest to Canadians. We summarise from the report as follows:

The North Atlantic Fisherles question, which was submitted to the Court of Arbitration at the Hague. Is now nearing a settlement. The treaty between the United States Canadium International Boundary, is still in dispute and urbitration is their, resorted to.

The International Fisherles Commission has now completed a system heing resorted to.

The International Fisherles Commission has now completed a system of uniform and common International regulations for the protection and presorvation of the food fishes in International boundary waters of the United States and Canada. Commissioners have been appointed to examine into the question of obstruction in the St. John River between Maine and New Brunswick, and to make recommendations for the regulation of the uses thereof.

On the 5th of July next, the Fourth Pan-American Congress will open at Buenos Ayres, and Mr. Tath has sked for a liberal appropriation to enable almost a liberal appropriation to enable almost a liberal appropriation to enable and the suppose of international interest which will be discussed. He has also asked for a grant of $50,000 to be used for the suppression of the White Slave trady.

General Penny Postage.

Upon his retirin from the international Postal Conference at Berne, Him. Bodolphe Lemieux expressed his opinion that when the Postal Conforence meets two years hence. Madrid, the whole civilised world would be ready to adopt the penny postal system which had worked so successfully in the British Empire. They bad been much struck by the fact that it cost five cents to send a letter from France, twenty milish sucross the Channel to England, while from England they could go nearly round the world for two rents.

The Longest Canal.

The Longest Canal.

Seas and oceans once miles apart, are gradually being brought together by man's construction of immense canals. The Russian Government is now preparing to connect the Black and Baitle Seas, in doing like, there will be utilised the energy contained in the falls of the western Wina and Onleper Rivers, for the generation of electric power, such being estimated at 22,000 horse-gower, with a home value of fifty centa per horse-power per year. The canal will be large enough to carry vessels which can convey seventy or eighty carloads of freight at one time. The cannal will be 1,525 miles long, or the longest in the world, and will cost about $130,000,000, or about the cost of the most ranama Canal, it will require filteen years to construct this canal, but it will have a carrying capacity when completed of over 400,000 carloads of freight per year, quantity which the raflways ennot now handle. It will also give Russia a new waterway for war as well as peaceful purposes, and will hing transportation close to a vast agricultural region. The government itself will underdake the construction of this canal with a view to turning it over to the general public when completed.

With the verve and fire that distinguish him he appecied to the men of the Free Churches, by the memory of their Puritan ancestors, to take their places in the forefront of the battle between the Lords and the people. He declared, amidst a scene of intense enthusiasm, that if the men of England were free today to enter any church they wished, it was because the limels and the doorposts were stained with the blood of the Nonconformists of other days.
To one accustomed to Canadian rolitical gatherings a striking feature of the meeting was that it was opened with urayer and the singing of a hyun with the chorus:

A strange case came before Magistrate Burne last Wednesday, says the Orchard City, B.C., Record, when Marie Bowden, a Bohemian girl, was charged with stealing two blooses from a bedroom in the Royal Hotel. It was explained that the girl could not understand English very well, and upon hearing this Captain Heldey Jones, of the Vernon Corps of the Salvation Army, offered to act as commel for the prisorer. After a short consultation with her newly-found counsel, the prisoner admitted the thort, and it was then only left for the magistrate to pass sentence. Taking her age into consideration which was 1's years S months, it was thought that to administer the full term of confinement at Kamtoops set out in the Act would be branding the prisoner too much as a "jail bird," and Chief Hidson suggested that she should be sent to a reformatory or know where strict supervision over her movements would be kept.

Captain Hedley Jones, on behalf of The Salvation Army, asked the magistrate to deal leniently with the case. He had consulted with people who showed her prisoner to deal leniently with the case. He had consulted with people who show the giren another chance, and The Salvation Army would be responsible for her good conduct. He furthermore stated that The Salvation Army had secured emplayment for her, and offered to take her back to Vernon and thoo after her. The Newmarket engagement of the above Brigade, in spite of snow and sleet, can certainly be recorded as a success, the Hall being filled on Sun-sleet, can certainly be recorded as a success, the Hall being filled on Sunday slight. Ensign Gammadige, though small of stature, has renovated the Hall and should be congratulated on its neat appearance.

The Brigade thoroughly enjoyed the campaign, four souls being found at the mercy seat on Sunday night. The income was upwards of $20.

On Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 18 and 19, the Brigade conducted the Lisgar Street services, and rejoiced at night over six captures. There was also a bright case at the Holiness service. The solve of Staff-Captain Arthur Morris were splendid, and Staff-Captain White gave an excellent address on Sunday morning. The attendance was very graiffying: a real salvation spirit permeates the Corps.

Captain Osbourne has things well in hand, and the band is in very fine condition. We missed the services of Ensign De Bow, who was at Kingston with the Chief Secretary; Ensign Lightbourne, whose weak thout prevented her attendance, and Captain Sparks, who is in Ottawa arranging for the Caristmas dinner for the poor.

tainly welcome a return visit of the Band.

On Sanday, Nov. 25, we had good times, and two souls volunteered for salvation, and on Monday night three more souls surrendered.

On Thursday, Dec. 2nd, we had a great time when four of our beloved courades were united in matrimoty. We had the Opera House for this occasion, which was crowded. Major Green performed the eeremony. Among the visitors were Ens. Ritchie of St. Catharines, Cartain Myers of Aylmer, Captain Mrs. Clifford, from Batavia, N.Y., and Capt. Matier and Lieut. Woeleot, from Niagara Falls. The St. Kitts Band kindly supplied the music, and altogether we had a good time. Several bright speeches were given. The brides were Sis. Beatrice Davis and Sis. Heles Reselen; the bridegrooms, Bro. Geo. Davis and Bro. John Speneer.

Sunday was a busy day, the Colonel addressing no less than ten neetings, and other iostitutions. The Bandsmen and the Junior Workers came in for a share of the Colonel's time between the ordinary meetings, and they appreciated his words of counsel. The Holiness meeting was powerful and inspiring, and eight persons came forward to surrender all.

Afternoon.

Marenon.

A great public reception was given the Colonel in the afternoon, on which is leading to the property of the colone of the afternoon, on which is leading the property of the congregation deeply interested in the proceedings. Rev. Principal Gordon, Queen's University, presided. On the platform were Rev. Mr. Whitmore, G. M. Macdonnell, and Ensign De Bow, Toronto. Rev. Mr. Whitmore opened the meeting with prayer.

"Principal Gordon, in introducing Colonel Mapu, said he was deeply interested in the work of The Salvation Army. He had observed their work in Ottawa, Halitax, and Winnipeg, and was principally interested in The Army as an organization. If General Booth were an officer in the British army there was no deubt from his executive ability and as an organizer he would have been promoted to a generalship. The Army possesses the followship of a family, and that was due to the work of Mrs. Booth and the wonderful influence she brought to bear on all with whom she came in contact. People were apt to lone their carrestness in religious work, but the only way that it could be custained by getting nearer to the leve of God. The Army got near to the people by its practical work and its great activity, and was bringing its follow-ers close to Jesus.

"Colonel Mapp and he was delight-ed to be present, and that pleasure was greater because he came as a repre-sentative of that great organization of which he had the honor to be a mem-ber. He thanked the people for the warm welcome they had extended to him. He had been the recipient of many welcomes, but none had been so him. He had been the recipient of many welcomes, but none had been so hearty as thore presented to him in the Dominion of Canada. He was not surprised at the earnertness of the funnian neople, for something like twenty years ago a party of Canadian officers came to India, and he had the pleasure of veclouming them and afterwards working with them. He would never forget the devoted work manifested by this band of Canadian workers. God in His providence bad brought him into this vineyard. He had seen the qualities possessed by these Canadian mimicraries, and he was not surprised at the welcame given by them to those who were washers for God. Why was he the recipient of this welcome? I have to those who were washers for God. Why was he the recipient of the work of The Army! He was proud to be connected with The Army. Peple often saked him for his credentials as a member of The Army.

as a member of The Army.

"The speaker here referred to the late Dr. Wilson's work in The Salvation Army in Kingston, and his memory was regarded with love and reverence by its members. The love of God was implanted in his heart to care for the destitute and perishing, and the only object of his life was the glary of God was the salvation of mea. By the grace of God he was determined to spend the rest of his days in The Army. "The Army to-day man level, educated by the highest and lowest, and the maxim was because it steed out for the love of God and the salvation of the people. In Canada they were going about trying to lift up the people. There were no more able advocates of temperance than The Army. ### Three B's at Brantford.

Brewer Brown, the Bruiser.

We have had some splendid times at Brantford this week-end. We had Brewer Brown, the converted pugilist, boozer, cockfighter, and everything else that was bad, but now a converted worker for God and souls. On Saturday, the 18th December, he arrived at station, all dressed in the rags in which he was converted, and caused a stir on the station platform. Wending his way down the street he met a constable, one of Brantford's stalwarts, who, after a few questions, promptly touk him by the arm and arrested him. After getting within a few blocks of the station, Ensign Baird came and rescued the Brewer. Crowds listened to him on the market as he told of the wonderful love of God. He also gave some of his life story at the meeting inside, which impressed the people. All day on Sunday was a day long to be remembered, Brother Brown taking for his text in the holiness meeting "Perfeet Love." At the close one soul sought the blessing of a clean heart. He also spoke at the mass meeting in the Opera House on local option. At night the Hall was crowded and every one listened to his address on the bringing in his own life as an example of God's tender merey and nower. When the invitation was first to come was a little child, followed by a woman currying a haby; then a backstider, who had once fought for God and souls, but had strayed away, and then an ex-bandsman, till four had knelt at the merey sent. Our Soldiers are being encouraged and we are going in more than ever this winter for God and souls. This week-end has been an inspiration to all, and the comrades are believing for Brewer Brown to come back soon. God bless him.-F. D.

Christmas Doings at Lippincott.

The Annual Christmus Entertainment was given at Lippincott on December 20th and proved a great success. The barracks was profusely decorated with greenery and bunting, but instead of the usual Christmas tree a big wheel had been creeted on the platform and the presents placed around it and on it. The Territorial Young People's Band was in attendance and gave a musical programme, consisting of marches, selections and instrumental solos. Quite a long programme had been prepared, thirty-two items figuring on it. Many amusing dialognes and recitations were given in a very clever manner, and a piano duet was performed by Laura and Norman Freeman. One of the hits of the evening was a song by a little girl, entitled "I'm Going to the Army." The sudience appreciated its fact that the all the more owing to the tiny maid accompanied herself on the piano. Several drills were given squads of hoys and girls under the Malesy and Captains Pattenden and

The chairman was Mr. T. Church. Collier. J. S. M. Horwood and his assistants are to be congratulated upon production of such an excellent programme.

T. Y. P. Band at Temple.

Lt. Col. Southall Directs Their Efforts

The Territorial Young People's Band recently did a week-end at the Temple under the direction of Lt.-Col. Southall. On Saturday night the programme consisted of a variety of selections and readings. A emphonium solo by Bandsman Willie Palmer and an instrumental quartet by the Bandmaster and three bright youths are worthy of spccial comment. The Sunday morning address by the Colonel was enlightening and instructive. In spite of the stormy weather, the Band managed to play at the open-airs. The afternoon programme inside was well rendered. Solos on the horn and trombone by Bandsmen Collier and Burton were much appreciated, as was also a reading by Ensign Stitt. The general opinion of the Bami was that they were making good progress. As Adjt. Kendall said, "These young fellows sur-prise us."

Among the features of the evening meeting was a short but telling beart talk on conversion by Sergeant-Major Colley of Montreal. The Colonel's Montreal. Scripture address, based on St. John 7: 17, abounded with heart-searching

Three souls knelt at the marcy seat-Among them was a moral young man who had attended The Army for the first time, while a confirmed knelt beside bim. Mrs. Lieut.-Colonel Southall rendered very acceptable service throughout the day.

The Editor at West Toronto.

The Editor and his staff visited West Toronto for the week-end. Splendid erowds came to the meetings, and everyone was much taken up with the sketches of the War Cry artist. On Suturday night the Brigadier described his experiences in South Africa, the artist illustrating the same. All day on Sunday the meetings were brimful of interest. "Spiritual Strength" was the Brigadier's morning topic, and many were greatly blessed through it. In the afteroom the artist illustrated several stories connected with differ-ent phases of Army work. Captain Dodd was the soloist for the day, and be sang several songs, accompanying himself on the piano. Capt. Church read the Scripture lesson in the afternoon and made sundry comments on it. The ball was well filled at night. Adit, Walters and Capt. Church each gave a short talk, the Band gave a selection of music and song blended tegether, and the Brigadier delivered a graphic address cutitled "A Great Detective Story."

Captains Andrews and Pease are in charge of this Corps and are very popular with all classes.

Big Musical Festival.

Hall Full-Brigedier Adby Chairmen.

At St. John V. on Wednesday evening, Pecember 1st, we had a great musical demonstration. Although was a very stormy night the Hall was filled, and those present were more than delighted with the munical fertival that Capt. Voigel had arranged. Beside our local talent, we had the Male Cantiette from the Methodial

Church, which rendered us some beautifal masic, instrumental and vocal.

Our new D. O., Brigadier Adby, arted as chairman, and the sentiments of the people are, "He's all right." Mrs. Adby gave us a beautiful recita-tion, entitled "Mother and Sou," Then our worthy Chancellor, Staff Capt. Barr, favored us with a Scotch song. The festival was a success, and the people of St. John say it's the best yet.

The Temple Band Visits Paris.

Lieut.-Colonel Gaskin Conducts Services-Mayor Patterson and Mr. Pisher, M.P.P., Show Their Appreciation of Army

The visit of the Temple Band to Paris has been an unqualified succ spiritually, musically and financially, The impetus given to the local Corps should have far-reaching results.

Lieut.-Colonel and Mrs. Gaskin, assisted by Major Green, conducted the services during the week-end, and the justructive and convincing talks of the Colonel were much appreciated.

A welcome ten made the boys quite at home, and prepared the way for a musical treat to an excellent crowd in the open-air service outside the fire hall.

The crowd realized that they had a first-class Band in their midst, and many were heard to express their great delight at the excellent playing.

The musical festival Saturday night in the Opera House was well attended, and Mayor Patterson made an excellent chairman. The playing of the Band, their singing, etc., was highly appreciated, and the programme was worthy of the occasion in every respect.

On Sunday morning the Colonel gave a powerful address on "lfs." Both the visiting and local comrades were much blessed as a result. This meeting was preceded by a red-hot prayer meeting conducted by the Band Sergeant, W. Nicol. The inclemency of the weather prevented the usual openair services being held, which was a keen disappointment to all.

Sunday afternoon was a great time. Mr. Fisher, M.P.P., presided over a creat crowd, and right at the onset made us all feel that he was glad to be in our midst. The playing of the Band. ably conducted by the werthy Dand master, Captain Hanagan, resched high-water mark. All the items of an elaborate programme were well tendered. Mrs. Colonel Gaskin's speech was of especial interest, and the Colonel's address thoroughly enjoyed by the assembled crowd.

The Mayor was one of those who supported Mr. Fisher, and his presence with us on the platform in this way was a practical evidence of his oppre ciation of the Bond and The Army, The meeting closed amidst much enthusiasm.

Scuday night, owing to the untarourable elements, the ordinary service was preceded by a short musical service. At might the Colonel save a very powerful address on "The Finger of

GET READY FOR THE NEW YEAR.

We have entered upon another We have massed the last milestone of the first decade of a new century. In it there will be foes to face and devils to encounter, as we traverse its unknown, and perhans, devious wars. Are you fully equipped for the enterprise of living a year of human life? Our cartoon the front page, shows how we should be armed to meet the foes of God and man that will attack us. Have you got that armour on? not get it on at once! Don't venture along life's untrodden pathway without the Christian's armour of defence and offence. If you are to be good and do good, you will need both. Get them.

Let 1910 be the best year of your life. It can be made so by your having a greater measure of God's blessing than in any other. And this blessing will come in proportion to your obedience to the commands and will of our Heavenly Father.

He has promised that if we will hearken diligently to observe to do His commands, that He will bless us and set us on high. And God fulfils His promises always. Let us, then observe and do those commands that He has left for us, and then all will be well whether the blessing takes the form of human advancement, or divine chastening. all will be for our ultimate good.

Get on the whole armour, and let us all so forth to wage a good warfare and advance the cause of God and The Salvation Army.

A happy, holy New Year to all, and God speed the Wnr.

Three Toronto Corps Visited.

PETINGS were conducted at three of the Toronto Corps on Sunday, Dec. 12, by the Commissioner. In the morning he was at Lippincott, where a splendid audience gathered to enjoy a holiness meeting with their Commissioner. The opening song was lined out by the new Commander, Brigadier Divisional Morehen, Capt. Kelly then sang a solo. A Rible reading by the Commissioner followed, and then Brigadier Morehen was called on for a few words to give him a chance of making himself known to this portion of his new command.

The Commissioner then gave straight talk on holiness, at the close of which two young men came forward to consecrate themselves fully to the service of God.

The weather turned stooms in the oftermoon, but this did not prevent a record crowd gathering at Yorkville for the afternoon meeting. The first song was given out by Lt.-Col. Howell and then Mrs. Howell interceded at the throne of grace for blessing on the meeting. A solo by Capt. Mardall was a much appreciated item in the afternoon's proceedings. As at Lippincott, the Divisional Commander was introduced, and he gave a prief talk,

The Young People's Orchestra, under the direction of Captain Pugmire. then gave a selection. It was well rendered, and the audience seemed delighted with it,

The Commissioner gave a stirring address, and at the close an appeal was made for consecrations. One young woman responded and came forward to offer herself as a candidate for the work. In the prayer meeting which followed a touching sight was witnessed when a young woman, a recent eonvert, pleaded with her mother to come to Christ, and at last had the joy leading her out to the front and praying with her.

The storm increased in fury towards night and a cold sleet was fulling as the time for meeting drew nigh. It did not prevent the Riverdale people crowding to the hall, kowever, and a splendid audience greeted the Commissioner as he stepped upon the platform. rousing meeting was soon in full swing To Brigadier Morehon again fell the duty of lining out the first song. Mrs. Major Findlay and Lt.-Col. Howell then led in prayer. The Commissioner then asked the Band and Suggeters to sing one verse of a wellknown Army song, and undertook to conduct thom himself. He then read portion of Scripture. A few words of testimony were given by the new Divisional Commander and then the Band rendered a selection in first-class style. A song by Capt. Mardall and his two sisters fitted in very well with the spirit of the meeting. It was a song of invitation to sinners to come to Christ. A very powerful address was then given by the Commissioner. He sinks of the deriness in which sinpers dwell and of the great darkness to which they are doomed beteafter unless they repeat. The results were excellent, for in the prayer meeting nine came to the mercy seat secting salvatien. One was a young man who confessed that he was on his way to commit spiride when the sound of the Band attracted him to the Hall. He said that a warrant was out for arrest, as he had been guilty of theft, but he had resolved to give himself up to the authorities. Staff-Capt. Fraser now has his case in band and is doing his best for him. Several young people were also among the converts.

Saturday Night at Oshawa.

On Saturday, December 15th, the Commissioner, accompanied by Brigadjer Morehen and Major Findlay. visited Oshawa, for the purpose of seeing into some business concerning Army property is that town, and also to deliver a lecture on the duty of the Christian towards the unsayed masses. The party were met upon their arrival by the Officers in charge-Captain and Mrs. to Count fordan and caracted ters for tea. After tea business matters occupied the Commissioner until meeting time.

The town Hall had been bired for the occasion and a good crowd assembled to listen to the Commissioner's address. The local Corps was in full scrength, and there were a number of prominent citizens present. including His Worship the Mayor.

Mr. McLaughlin acted as chairman, and he spoke very warmly of the work of The Army. The preliminaries of the meeting over, the Commissioner gave a stirring address, the sentiments he expressed on questions of national interest, being anplauded again and again At 9 p. m. he had to rush away to catch a train his next appointment and it fell to the lot of the Divisional Commander, Brigader Moreken, to bring the meeting to a close.

Old Battlegrounds Revisited.

Comrades of Port Hope and Cobourg Delighted to See the Commissioner.

The Commissioner's visit to Part Hope was a distinct success. It was a pleasure to the comrades of the Corps to have a holiness meeting where they had the opportunity of listening to one of those forcefsi, convincing addresses that was beinful in many ways.

The Commissioner did not attempt anything else than to get right at their hearts and fix personal responsibility on every one for being outand-out for God. Nine souls surrend ered their all to Cod

The General's Life Story.

How He is Progressing with His Autobiography.

LIFE AT HADLEY WOOD.

(From the London Daily Chronicle.)

In a tiny, plainly furnished back room of his very modest home at Hadley Wood on the Northern outskirts of iondon. General Booth is writing his autoblography. He is writing it by fits and starts in the intervals between meetings and Salvation Army work in all parts of the country.

When finished the "Autobiography" will be a memorable work filling up and rounding out an important chapter in the social and spiritual history of England, and describing the beginning and the progress of what the late Sir Walter Besaut called "The Great Endeavour."

The book will have its world-wide interest too, for, in its later phases, it will deal with the remarkable overseas development of William Booth's organisation. On its purely spiritual side, the "Autohiography" should have a wonderful fascination as a study in spiritual growth and inheritance. It will show how a merchant's son who Nottingham might have become through sheer business ability a great merchant prince abaudoned commerce and took to street preaching, cutting himself adrict from the Church of England, in which he had been brought up. And it will show his uccessive changes from Wesleyanwith which he first silled himself, to Congregationalism, then to the Methodist New Connection, and finally a free man as the ploneer on Mile End Waste of a movement the Mile-but venter thought to stife which its opponents thought to stife with success at "Corybantic Christian—
These will be some of the sides of the story, but it will have many facets.

It has been assumed that the book will be ready for publication at the New Year but that is now doubtful. The aged General is making heroic efforts to accomplish his task, and is progressing with it in spite of the distractions of his ordinary work. In the actual composition of his book he is receiving no assistance, but a visit to him at Hadiey Wood, shows that he is surrounded with an atmosphere of loving care, which helps to lighten his burdens.

Help Always Near.

Colonel Kitching has been to all intents and purposes, released from business at The Salvation Army Headquarters in order that he may give his personal attention to The General. The Colonel is acting now as General Booth's private secretary, and he has with him two shorthand writers one of whom is in constant attendance and the other always within call. These take down from dictation The General's story, and it is afterwards written out and typed.

Now, as ever General Booth is an autocrat and "L'etat? C'est moi," is his motto. An important dispatch comes in from America, Japan, india, or some remote part of the world which The Salvatios Army has drawn within its net. The General alone must deal with it, and the document or a precis of it, is seal out to Hadley Wood. There the work of dictation is put aside the past becomes a scaled book for the time, and the eld man's whole sites.

Mr. Bramwell Booth The General's eldest son and his family. It eclose at hand and every morning before he leaves for Queen Victoria Street, and every evening when he returns, the "Chief" visits his father, and whatever work is in hand is put aside while the two converse on the affairs of The Salvation Army, or on matters of public interest.

The "Autobiography" will cover a period of sixty-five years of active work and The General does not mind confessing that one of his inspirations in his task is the portrait, hanging in his room, of his dead wife, the "Mother" of The Salvation Army the courageous woman who, when the Methodist New Connection decided to send him on circuit work, instead of the revival work for which his heart longed, echoed his "Never," from the gallery, and so determined his new start in life.

sumptive. The honourable gentleman in his introductory address spoke of these things, and by all appearance from the andience merited the hearty applause which was frequently heard. the platform was also seen the Rev. Mr. Steven, of the China Inland Mission, who gave a short address, and congratulated The Army on their work in India. He is a missionary who has and China. Mr. J. H. Chapman also spoke on the excellent address which had been given by the Chief Secretary.

There was a very pleasing session between meetings when Colonel Mapp and the other visitors and Officers sat down to ten with the Band and Census Board. After attending to the inner mnn, the Chief Secretary give a few well-chosen words to those who sat at the tables, on the importance of attending to first things. The points were well brought out and had an uplifting tendency to the Band, as well as those who were privileged to be there.

Unfortunately, the storm still conmarked difference in the crowd, which otherwise would have packed the building and jammed it out. However, the Citadel was well filled, and after a song and address by Lieut. Colonel Pugmire, and the rending of the Scriptures by Mrs. Mapp, the Chief Secretury launched out on the crowd with a stirring talk. The truth was driven home, and after a well-fought prnyer meeting some eight surrenders took place, besides two for officership.

The campaign ended with a general consecration of all the saved people in the audience coming to the front and offering themselves afresh to God for a mighty awakening.

The visit of Colonel and Mrs. Mapp and Licut.-Colonel Pugmire was thoroughly enjoyed, and all join in inviting a speedy roturn to the Forest City. -Crichton, D.O.

NEWS FROM DAWSON CITY.

Old Pioneer Klondiker Saved Desthbed-A Wedding in S. A. Hall.

The Lord is blessing The Salvation Army's work in Dawson, Y.T., and only recently the writer counted 17 on the march, the uniform being much in evidence. The inside meetings are well attended and interest is splendidly maintained.

Dawson being a mining centre, some of our soldiers have interests that take them very many miles away from the Corps at times, while we note the at seats once and again of other committee who work in Dawson in the summer time, but leave for the coust and California as the winter comes on.

Truly we would have a march in-deed were all our comrades present.

The officers were recently instrumental in leading an old Kloudike pioneer to the Saviour whilst on his deathbed.

Since our last report we have had several carolments, and sent our first candidate on his way to the S. A. College. Besides this, we have had the pleasure of conducting a wedding in Our own ball. Ensign and Mrs. Johnston, with the able assistance of our much beloved Lieut. Wright, conducting it with much acceptance to tho contracting parties, and to the general satisfaction of all those who were able to gain admittance to the ball.

The legal part of the ceremony was attended to by the Rev. Turkington astenaed to by the Rev. Turkington of the Presbyterian Church, a staunch friend of the S. A., and relative to some of our leaders on the U. S. A. alde.

effective manner carried his audience with him. The laughed and cheered alternately as he illustrated his talk by some pointed story, and without doubt, great good was accom-plished. There was no mistaking the position in which The Salvation Army stood regarding those things that are for the uplifting of men and without particularising any one thing, the Commissioner showed that in attacking sin we were doing what would produce the best re-

A vote of thanks to the Commissloner was proposed by the Rev. Canon Montgomery, who expressed he had heard, and remarked that Canada could do with any number of men like Commissioner Coombs. The Rev. Mr. Clark seconded the motion, and also expressed his pleasure at being there and having an opportunity to commend the good work of The Salvation Army. The pudience unanimously approved, and the vote of thanks was carried in a hearty manner.

The Commissioner then pro-The Commissioner line pro-posed seconded, and put to the meeting a vote of thanks to the chairman, after which the Doxol-ogy was sung, and the meeting rought to a close. The Officers and Soldiers of the Port Hope Corps were very much gratified to have another visit from the Commissioner, whose coming was as ource of blessing and inspiration to them in their own souls, and in their work of seekiug the salvation of the people.

A seven-mile drive to Cobourg is the next item as the Commissioner is announced for the night meeting It is over twenty-two years there. since the Commissioner visited this town and there are still a few comin our ranks who have fought saithfully during these years, and who were delighted to get a grip of Commissioner's hand.

The crowd in the Opera House was very good, and the Commissioner laid himself out to make the plan of salvation, and the possibility of the people being saved, very clear and plain. The Spirit of God was and working on the hearts of the people, but it was difficult to get them to take the step and seek this salvation for themselves. One dear woman came and gave herself to God.

The P. C. and Major Findley accompanied the Commissioner, while Brigadier Potter and Captain Carter held the fort at Cobourg on Satur-____ day night and Sunday morning and afternoon.

The Cobourg Band went over to Port Hope and did good service. We believe that as a result of this Cam-naign fresh interest has been created, and God has been glorified.

TEMPLE JUNIORS' CHRISTMAS DEMONSTRATION.

The Commissioner Presides and Makes Merry with the Young People.

On Monday night, December 20th. the Temple was the scene of a spiendid demonstration by the Juniors of the city Corps. The Hall, gay with flags and other decorations, was crowded to the doors, while the platform looked quite picturesque with its log cabin and red-bricked cottage wherein slepi three or tour little tots, awaiting the arrival of Santa.

Young and old joined in laughter that resounded again and again in an expectant air, for the action-songs and dialogues were given wonderfully true to life. The older folks felt like children once more. Even the Commissioner could not refrain from demonstrating his feel-ing, and more than once stooped to give a little one a hug or a handshake.

Certainly, there was no lack of earlety or interset. Each item variety or interset. Each item showed the result of careful training. Especially was this noticeable in the floral wreath drill, the "Little Mothers" action-song, and the "Good Night" plece, over which the audience was simply thrilled with de-

Towards the end of the programme Santa Claus announced his arrival Toronto." When, with the blare of trumpets, the old fellow did bound onto the platform, the children could hardly contain themselves.

And then the presentation of toys, etc. Drums, trumpets, games, and useful articles of all kinds, fairly, rolled out of Santa's cabln, and by the time all were distributed. Big Ben had tolled out the eleventh hour. It was a "great" time.

Lieut. Colonels Pugmire and South all, Brigadier Morehen and Major Findlay, assisted the Commissioner, whom the Divisional Commander introduced to the audience as "a true friend of the children," and who shall gainsay his words? +9+8+9+8+8+8+**

Returning to the freat after an enforced absence, one notes at once an improvement in the platform, and also a half-dezen new scats added to the other scating, a testimony to the offiruling passion, everlastingly on the improvement.

As Xwas approaches we find abundance to occupy our hands, as well as our minds, for the Klondike S. A. people are a people of big things. We open up mouths, and expect the Lord to fill them; consistently with this, we are engaging the A. B. Hall here for our Xmas celebrations. This feature, along with the Xmas dinner and New Year's deings, will no doubt be the biggest thing of its kind ever attempted in Dawson, and may the Lord bless as and make everything we do to His honor and glory (as He has in the past) a success.

On American Thanksgiving Day a great crowd attended a special demon-stration in the Hall, despite the fact that the thermometer registered 45 below zero. In clesing this report we have to in elesing this report we have to note the spirit of good will and kind-ness prevailing in the Corps, due very largely to the painstaking efforts of the Ensign and his family.

Klondyker.

Parabora is still on the move. Thursday, De. 2nd, two souls came forward, and on Sunday night three more came out and four held up their hands to be prayed for. We regret to report that one of our soldiers persed away last Priday. May God confort the be-renved relatives and friends.-W. G. S.

A DESCRIPTION OF THE RELIGIOUS AND SOCIAL CONDITION OF THE CHINESE PEOPLE.

ment of Colonei and Mrs. Lindsay to pioneer our Work in that vast country.

This great Eastern Empire presents a splendid field for our operations. It has an area of about five mailton square miles, nearly half of which is occupied by China proper, and the population is estimated at four hundred millions. It is a land of almost boundless resources. The China of to-day furnishes nearly all the tea for the whole world. It is also rich in silk, cotton, rice rhundred millions, and a great variety of fruits. China is fich in minerals also coal is abundant; silver is extensively mined; and gold, copper, zinc lead and mercury are found in gerat quantishes.

The oldest country in the world. China has been known by different names in different eras. To the ancients it was known as the family Silma has been known by different sames in different eras. To the ancients it was known as the family Silma had been known by different eras in different eras. To the ancients it was known as the family Silma had been researched within their walled kitzdam until now, when we are able to cope with them, we might to-day, have been under Chinese rule, learning and practising Conductatism at the sword's point. Confucting may as four as a they five Bor while morality is a marvel, Pollal niety and obsellence, are evaluated as the chier virtues, so that a fertinanan, no matter bow old by it, remains under the authority of histographs as Jesus Chris, does to Fis. That Confuciantsm should become the State religion, however, was many as received film. Them gave He power to become the sons of God."

That Confucianism should become the State religion, however, was not surprising for its trachinas fell with the matter-of-dary phigematic, unspeculative Mongolian natures of those he taught. Unonsciously, though the Chinese have acknowledged the Inadequacy of Confucianism as a religion; for Buildhism and Toalism though cathed hererodox, came in time, to have an acknowledged position in the State; and not only the masses, but the upper classes also, either openiv or secretive seek through these religions that intercourse with the spiritual world which is denied them in Confucianism. The effect of this mixture has been the production of a common indifference to the distinctive character of each.

Lao-Tse, the father of Taolam, once addressed Confucius thus: "Fou think," said he, "that men can be reformed by the imposition of laws, forms and ceremonies and by bolding up for their initiation the good examples of acrient worther. That shows what a superficial knowledge of human nature you have. Why the more you multiply laws the more ingenious will men become in evading them. Besides, do not dream that the living will walk for ever in the footsteps of the dead, a temporary success will be achieved by your method, but it will only be a closel for corruption, and after a time wichedness will burst our more violently than before."

Lao-Tse bad no other remedy to propose, so his warning fell upon deaf ears. tills words, however, came trite as soon as Confucius was dead. The state of the empire grew words and worse. The undufful became more undufful became more undufful still, and the unruly more violent. All the old mental and moral landmarks were overthrown and the country as once more in confusion. Religious sentiment is not a characteristic of the Chinaman of today. His views on the subject of faith are wanting in definiteness and are so indistinct and hierred that it might surpass the wit of man to determine what is the prevailing religion of the country. The multi-cude of Euddhist temples which cover the face of the land might naturally suggest that the majority of the people profess the religion of Buddha; while conversations with native scholars would unquestionably lead one to believe that the edu-certain and the before of weights the cells was placed before the alter, and near bin, as the ground, were placed five eggs, into which the devils were edited to water, as soon as the devils were supposed to have entered the eggs, site of the priests covered them with an earth-orn vase at the same time sounding a loud blast on a Born. When the vase was removed, the eggs bad, by a trick of sleight-of-hand, entered the vase from the foor. The priest then uncovered his own are, and made an incision in the fleshy pert. The blood was then mixed with a little water, into which the seal of the temple was dipped, preparatory to stamping the sleck child on the neck wrists, back and foreheed. The condition of woman in China is deplorable though not so had as that of her sisters in India. From their cradles to their graves women in China stand at a distinct disaivantage as compared with men. In the ancient book of odes mention is made of the custom of giving tiles the child was Taoism, the third religion which holds sway in China, does not make the same pretension to popularity as do the other two faiths. As a matter of fact, however, it would probably be difficult to find many Chinamen who are Confucianists pure and simple, or many who rest concented whit she worship provided in Buddhist temples. A consideration of the two—an annelgam, in which the materialism of Coafmeius and the religious faith of Saki Munimentally supplement each other—enters into the life of the people at large: while Taoism samplies a certain amount of superstitious love which the former lack.

As an example of what the Taoist priests teach the people, we cite the following incident from the account given by a missionary of a visit to a Taoist temple.

A child suffering from fever and ague was brought to the priests by his father. Haring consulted the particular idea of which he was guardian, a priest teld the father his sen

No husband or male reintive ever appears outside his own portal in company with his wife or remale relations, and social intercourse is an extended of the softening influences and etevating rendencies which are everywhere due to the pressure of women. It is a mistake, however, to suppose that women do not in many respects held their own even in the appressive atmosphere of China; but their appears of influence is confined to their own bosses. Dr. Davis, who has been connected with Christian Work in Kyoto from is very commencement, referred to the fact that only thirty-eight years ago a Japanese was imprisoned and died in Kyoto Jail for secretly reading a Japaneze translation of the Gospel of St. Matthew. However, things have changed for the better rince then. Christian Work is now openly carried on in the city, and commands the respect If not the support of all Japanese.

Saved Through S. A. Literature.

At a meeting which Brigadier Yamamuro addressed for the students at the great Doshisha College, In Kyoto, where there are seven hundred students, the following testimony was given:

A student said that a few years ago he fell under suspicion of being an agitator against the Government. He was imprisoned and whilst la jail became concerned about his soul. A copy of the Common People's Gospel, written by Brigadier Yamamuro came into his hands, and through the reading of the book he was converted. After bis release from prison, he got into touch with

Lieut.-Colonel Turner Has Good Time at Montreal.

Last Thursday night Capt. Turner and his sailor boys and girls came over from No. II and gave us the lifeboot service. We had the Citadel full and everybody enjoyed the meeting. On Sunday we had a fine time with our old friends, Col. and Mrs. Turner. In the morning we had a good welcome and holiness meeting. The Colonel did our souls good with a few words from the dear old Book. In the afternoon the Coionel dedicated Ensign and Mrs. Duncan's baby to God and The S. A. At the night meeting we had a good attendance, although it was such a wet night.

Adj. Cornish has won his way to the hearts of his people. We are in for a big time this winter. The band is on its feet again and playing well under Bandmaster Pobb and Dep. Goodyear, and Capt. Tutte is doing fine with the songsters. We are all so sorry to lose Sec. Phillips and his wife, who have gone back to dear old England.

On Sunday, December 5th, we were favoured at Tilleonburg with a visit from Envoy Lightowler, and enjoyed his talk to us. On Sunday afternoon he lectured on "Pictures From Real Life." We all join in saying, come again, Envoy.

Pushing The Salvation Army Loom.

Commissioner Fakir Singh (Booth-Tucker) has hit upon a new method of bringing our patent loom before the notice of the village weavers. He has chartered a barge, for use on a navigable canal. The party on board will land at the various villages on the banks, and will set up a loom and explain the working of it to the villagers at the same time booking any orders that may be recelved.

The estrangement between the seves is carried out la deed as weii as thought and word. It is well as thought and word. It is hald down on authority, that It is called by mony a man and a woman touch each other in giving and receiving, and so literally was this command accepted that it was held by many that it was eren improper for a man to save a woman front drowning. A monotonus and quiet existence is the most favourable role which a Chinese woman can expect to play. Contuclus laid it down, and it is rank blusphemy to dissent from him, that a woman should not be heard of outside her own home. Unhappily, melther liporance, nor the placid nature which belongs to most of them, is able to save them in all cases from the miseries inherent in the state or abject dependence which belongs to them. The Chinaman regards his wife as a mere citattel, which, in times of adversity may be disposed of by sale. In seasons of famine, an open market is held of the wives and daugitters of the poorer sufferers, and on one occasion, during a period of dearth in North China, so great a traffic spring up in women agirls, that in some places nearly every available cart and conveyance were engaged to transport the newly purchased slaves to the entral provinces.

When such is the position which women occupy in China, it cannot but be, that they occasionally suffer ill usage at the hands of such husbands as are capable of erneity. It is not at all uncommon for husbands to punish their wives severely; sometimes, no doubt under great provocation, for Chinese women, untutored, unloved, and uncared for, have all the raults and failings of unreclaimed natures. But experience shows that, after all the rule (ends in the opposite direction and that which makes the position of a wife more than ordinarily pittable, especially apong the poorer classes is that she has no one to appeal to and no one to whom she can apply laid down on authority, that in no case may a man and a woman touch shows that, after all the rule tends in the opposite direction and that which makes the position of a wife more than ordinarily pitiable, especially among the poorer classes is that she has no one to appeal to and no one to whom she can apply for refuge. By the accident of sex, she is viewed as a burden by her parents, from her birth onwards, and if they succeed in marrying her off, they are only too glad to wash their hands of her altogether.

Among ourselves, a man is taught that he should leave his father and mother and cling to his wife, but the theory in China is that a man should coinged his wife to do the same. When admitted into her new home it becomes her duty to wait on her parents-hawd in the same way as she had been accustomed to serve her own father and mother, and his often from these clears that the unhappy bride suffers the greatest hardships and cruelty.

Such, then, is the religious and social condition of these millions of people, and he is to be hoped that multitudes of them will now be wunter of Go and The Army. The fight will, doubliess, he hard, for, from the Salvation Army.
